

An illustration of a cored bin after the fines and broken corn has been pulled from the center, enabling better airflow during aeration (Figure is courtesy of Dr. Sam McNeill, University of Kentucky).